Introduction

What is physical literacy?

Physical literacy can be described as the motivation, confidence, physical competence, knowledge and understanding that provides children with the movement foundation for lifelong participation in physical activity. Enabling them to be physically literate supports their development as competent, confident and healthy movers.

How will this framework help you?

This framework has been designed to support those working in primary schools to consider how best they can structure their PE and school sport provision to ensure maximum opportunity is provided to develop the physical literacy of all their pupils.

Why should schools, and partners working with schools, consider this?

In a school context developing physical literacy is the foundation of PE and school sport. Physical literacy is not a programme, rather it is an outcome of any structured PE and school sport provision, which is achieved more readily if learners encounter a range of age and stage appropriate opportunities. This framework will help you to consider what those age and stage appropriate opportunities need to focus on to maximise the potential to develop the physical literacy of all pupils through PE and school sport.
